Who will you vote for this Tuesday?

Growth, economy hot topics amongst Bay candidates

BY JOHN WATERMAN

Bay St. Louis will hold its municipal elections this Tuesday, on June 7. Most city councilman, as well as the mayor, will be running in this election.

Mayor Eddie Favre faces opposition from Republican challenger Danny Johnson.

Favre has been mayor of Bay St. Louis for 16 years. Favre felt the biggest accomplishment of his last term was the national recognition that Bay St. Louis had received, such as hosting the Dixie Girls World Series, and the National League of Cities directors convention.

At a forum held for Ward 3 candidates in April, Favre said he was especially proud of the economic development the city of Bay St. Louis had undergone in the past year, citing the decrease in unemployment as an example.

Hancock school board deadlocked on coaches

Contract deadline quickly approaching

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

The Hancock County School District may be in for a very disappointing athletic season. With the June 30 deadline fast approaching, none of the coaching contracts for Hancock High have been renewed.

During the board's last meeting, a motion to exclude Michael Ladner, head basketball coach, and Andy Penicaro, head baseball coach, was made by Packer Ladner. The motion was made incorrectly, and came up for another vote on Thursday's meeting. Packer Ladner and Rose Acker voted for the exclusion of the coaches, while Morgan Ladner and Peggy Ladner voted against.

The motion failed 2-2. When the board voted on the original list, the motion again failed 2-2, thereby causing all of the coaches to not be rehired.

"If the board does not address this situation by June 30, we will have no coaches," Peggy Ladner said.

Packer Ladner proposed that the administration submit individual

MEMA director tours Coast in preparation for hurricane season

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

Five storms made landfall during last year's hurricane season, causing massive property damage and 152 deaths. The Mississippi Emergency Management Agency wants to ensure that residents of the coastal area are sufficiently prepared this year so these figures will be even lower.

"The forecast for this season doesn't look good," said MEMA director Robert Latham.

When Hurricane Ivan made landfall this year, it was originally projected to hit the Gulf Coast and New Orleans directly. Most of these areas were placed under a mandatory evacuation order, and thousands of people from Mississippi and Louisiana flocked to northern areas of the state.

Traffic was heavily bottlenecked on most major roads, especially in Hattiesburg. Latham said that this was one area MEMA had worked hard to improve.

Traffic lights on Hwy. 49 will be overridden during an evacuation, and traffic will be directed by local and state law enforcement. Also, local traffic will not be allowed on the Highways in the event of an evacuation.

"We've done a lot of things since last year for the Hattiesburg area," Latham said.

This year, MEMA will also publish additional information on secondary evacuation routes in an effort to take pressure off the main highways.

Brian Adam, chief of the Hancock County

Emergency Management Agency, said that many people would not leave, despite an evacuation order.

"One in five people will not evacuate, and one in three will not do anything for a hurricane warning," he said.

Adam and Latham stressed that Gulf Coast residents should not take previous good fortune during hurricanes for granted. Buildings and homes that weathered Camille are older and more prone to damage or outright destruction.

"Hancock County has been very fortunate in that they have not seen a storm surge," Latham said.

People can make certain preparations well in advance, he said, such as preparing disaster supply kits. Suggested items include an NOAA weather radio, bottled water, non perishable or canned food, change of clothing, first aid kit, a battery powered flashlight with extra batteries, special items for infants, elderly or disabled family members, a cash opener, and cash or traveler's checks.

NASA Chief Administrator Mike Griffin discussed launch delays for the Return to Flight project, as well as the general state of the space program at a press conference on Thursday.

The Discovery launch, originally scheduled for May, was pushed back until July 13 due to several technical issues.

Griffin said he would know the shuttle was ready to go when it blasted off.

"My only concern is the safety of the astronauts and a successful launch."

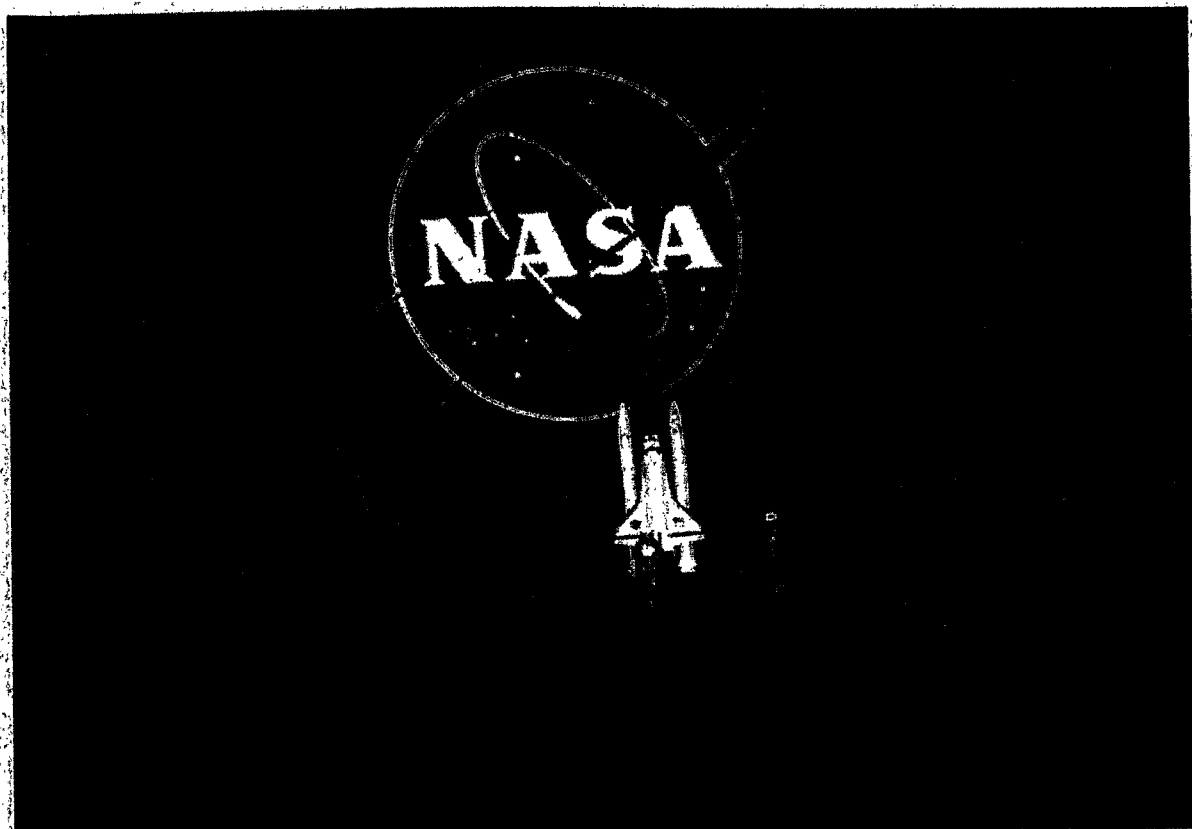

While space flights have been effectively grounded since the destruction of the Columbia in 2003, Griffin said that NASA would never again let deadlines dictate launch times.

"The people who made those decisions are no longer in a management position," Griffin said.

While Griffin did not call the current climate a "space race," he stressed that the United States should be the leader in space exploration.

Griffin said that Russia's dedication to a space program despite its economic difficulties was remarkable, and China's entry into the business was "terrific," he still believed America should lead the way to the moon and beyond.

To this end, Griffin wants to accelerate development on a new spacecraft, the crew exploration vehicle, from 2014 to 2010.

This ties in with President Bush's intent to retire most of NASA's current, older spacefaring vessels by the same year.

"I still want the United States to be the premier nation in Space exploration," he said.

Griffin was appointed by President Bush in April of this year. He previously worked as head of the Space Department at Johns Hopkins University's applied physics laboratory.

He holds a Ph.D. in Aerospace Engineering from the University of Maryland, and Masters degreeselectrical engineering, applied physics, business administration and civil engineering.

His predecessor, Sean O'Keefe, will take on the role of Chancellor at Louisiana State University.

Do not forget to vote Tuesday

Tuesday is the big general election day for the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian.

The slate of candidates elected in those two municipalities will have the responsibility of representing their city for the next four years.

Some qualified electors take the easy way out many elections by not casting their ballot, and every vote really counts.

Over the years, here in our area, I have seen so many very important elected positions won just by one or two votes. There was one race in which each candidate tied and a toss of a coin selected a winner.

So, all qualified electors need to remember to go to the polls on Tuesday and vote for the candidates of their choice.

It also would be good for you to remind your relatives and friends that Tuesday is election day.

In both cities, there is a mayor to be elected Tuesday.

While in Bay St. Louis, there are two City Council seats yet to be filled.

In Bay St. Louis, Ward 1 qualified electors vote at Bay High School, Blue Meadow Road; Ward 2, City-County Library, Ulman Avenue; Ward 3, Senior Citizens building, Bookter Street; and Ward 4, Christ Episcopal's Virginia Hall, South Beach Boulevard. Remember, the polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Tuesday, June 7, 2005.

Do not forget the annual St. Paul's Seafood Fest continues today from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

There will be all types of seafoods, live entertainment, a silent auction and lots of things for a family to do.

This annual Pass Christian event is a fund raiser for St. Paul's Catholic Elementary School, which is celebrating 130 years.

A very special Community Open House will take place this afternoon from Noon to 3 p.m. at the Gaits to Success.

Gaits to Success is South Mississippi's only therapeutic horsemanship center for handicapped children and adults.

"Gaits to Success is located at 7552 Kiln-Picayune Road, 1.7 miles west of Mississippi 603.

The Open House will give the general public an opportunity to see firsthand how therapeutic riding activities help youngsters with physical, emotional or mental disabilities.

Gaits to Success is a very beneficial and outstanding program in our community.

I know there are a lot of folks such as Chuck Benvenutti, who have dedicated themselves to help make Gaits of Success, a success.

Offering 'A Little Bit of Everything'

The Senate Energy Committee has reported out to the full Senate a broad proposal I hope will develop into America's first national energy policy. Aside from winning the War on Terror and providing safe highways, dealing with America's growing dependence on foreign oil is the most important challenge Senators face this year. We've got to take steps to acquire more conventional energy sources for the immediate demand, and we've got to start laying the groundwork for a future based around alternative energy sources. The Senate has been trying to pass a national energy policy for six years. Even before the 9/11 attacks and the subsequent War on Terror, America's energy outlook was concerning. Now, against a backdrop of American forces engaged in fighting terrorists and with gas prices at all time highs, the question is not whether America will enact an energy policy, but when.

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

I could sit here and write about why we shouldn't depend on questionable countries like Saudi Arabia and Venezuela for energy, but that's really self-evident. I could lament that our dependency on foreign oil is higher than ever, at 60 percent of our oil usage. I could bash SUVs, blame oil companies or chide radical environmentalists for blocking oil exploration and drilling in America. But the fact is, there is no particular cause of America's energy dependence. So dwelling on a few political themes simply doesn't speak to a complex, multi-faceted problem which requires a multi-faceted solution.

A passable and workable national energy policy will contain a little bit of everything. It should have incentives for conservation, for more efficient automobiles and appliances, as well as incentives for alternative energy solutions like fuel cells, hybrid cars, solar and wind power. It also must recognize that America itself has much unused energy beneath our feet, like coal, oil, natural gas and nuclear power. It must recognize that 21st Century technologies enable us to find, retrieve and use these conventional energy sources more efficiently, safely and cleanly.

This bill as passed in committee looks promising. It is diverse, calling for domestic production, more conservation and alternative energy use and research. Specifically, it sets first-time-ever efficiency standards for large appli-

Letters to the Editor

Tired of the same old run-around

Would someone please explain to the County Supervisors and the Hancock Planning Commission folks about Harry Truman? He fervently believed in "the buck stops here."

I recently tried to contact the supervisors about the condos proposed in the Clermont Harbor-Lakeshore Area. I was referred to the Planning Commission. When I called them, lo and behold I was immediately told to contact the County Supervisors. Not being a fan of endless loops, I called Dave Yarborough and left a message on his answering machine requesting him to call back. So far, no call after several days. It's time for well publicized open hearings for citizen input and, perhaps, a rewrite of the Comprehensive Plan.

Biloxi and Long Beach are both doing a fine job of condo development. Hancock County doesn't need to destroy wetlands that help clean the environment or end wildlife habitat. The development at Stennis and, hopefully, Stennis Airport can have their housing needs met without ruining the neighborhood for rails, herons, and egrets.

What about infrastructure? Who pays for waste water treatment plants and sewerage lines? Who pays to improve the roads? Who underwrites the extra costs for the Sheriff's law enforcement in a high growth area? Development costs but should not be an added burden in a county where many retired folks live on limited incomes.

P.S. Where can the public voice their opinions? Thank you.

FACT: The last Independent Auditor's Report on the finances of the City of Bay St. Louis, states that the City does not keep adequate records of the City's 13.5 million dollars in fixed assets.

FACT: As of June 1, 2005, the 2004 City audit for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2004 is still not available according to the City Controller

FACT: Waveland had approximately 1000% more commercial building permits issued than Bay St. Louis for the period of 2000- 2004

FACT: While the property tax millage increased dramatically from 2002-2004, the total assessed property values increased by approximately 31% as well from 2001-2004. With the increase in assessed property values, where is the necessity for the millage increase?

ances like commercial washers, refrigerators, air conditioners and other heavy-duty appliances that typically consume a lot of power. It also mandates the use of more ethanol, sets higher efficiency standards for utilities and requires the administration to enact a plan to save one million barrels of oil daily by 2015.

On the production side, the bill calls for tax incentives designed to increase the energy produced from wind, solar and geothermal energy. It also calls for environmentally sound relicensing of existing hydropower dams. Further, it encourages the use of coal - currently America's greatest source of electricity - by employing technologies making coal as clean as it is plentiful. This includes methods for "coal gasification" which removes 95 to 99 percent of undesirable coal contents. Finally, this bill calls for unprecedented research into hydrogen fuel-cell vehicles, which, together with hybrid vehicles, show increasing promise for vehicular transportation, particularly passenger car applications. The bill calls for new investments and modernization of America's electricity grid, and I hope to see additions to America's oil refining capacity as well. America has not built a new oil or gas refinery in almost 30 years. - another reason our energy dependence is growing.

To be sure, this proposal won't be universally loved. Liberals will hate the aspect of more oil and gas production, even if it is done responsibly in places where it is wanted. Corporate oil company executives may dismiss the potential of hydrogen fuel cells or the wide use of hybrids. A real and workable energy policy won't please everyone, but, to solve a complex energy problem, it must include everything.

Over the Memorial Day weekend, I drove from my home in Ocean Springs to Bay St. Louis for some holiday celebrations. It amazed me to see that well over fifty percent of the license plates were from Louisiana and Alabama. They come here because in lieu of their own beaches. We need to recognize that they chose to come here instead of their own beaches. In addition, I saw many other license plates from Ohio, Colorado, South Carolina, and many other states. We need to recognize that fact. The high percentage license plates from upstate Mississippi also amazed me. Hinds, Madison, Lafayette, Yazoo, Lee, and Washington were just the ones I recognized while driving down Highway 90. When I stopped for gas, a young couple from Georgia asked me where they could have a nice relaxing, seafood dinner overlooking the beautiful gulf. I directed them to McElroy's in Biloxi. They came here because of the Gulf and the view. I seriously doubt they would have come if we had rigs in the gulf.

I would like to extend my deepest gratitude to Connie Rocko, Senator Gollot, Senator Hewes, and Representative Patterson for standing by the communities that elected them. I would like to challenge all city, county, and state representatives from Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson counties to make a stance and say no to drillings. Time after time, Jackson has proven that they do not care about the Gulf Coast. Jackson wants our money and cares not for our interests.

We have only begun to fight, Mr. Speed, Mr. Moody, and Mr. Barbour. I have never seen the coast this unified. You haven't seen anything yet.

more by choice than opportunity," he said.

If reelected, Favre said, he feels the most important issues will be the annexation of the Highway 603 business corridor, and the continuation of the city's capital improvement project, which involves major repair of the drainage and road systems.

Johnson, a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis, is the vice-president of operations at MSI Security, Inc. He has also served as public works supervisor for the city of Bay St. Louis. Johnson said that he wants to encourage strong economic growth for Bay St. Louis while maintaining the small-atmosphere.

Jeffery Reed, Ward 3, defeated Connie Payne-Lampley and incumbent councilman Thomas Farve in the primary elections on May 3. Reed, a local businessman and pastor of the Powerhouse of Deliverance church, said he looks forward to working together with his constituency to improve the neighborhoods.

Incumbent Councilman-at-Large Bill Taylor and Ward four councilman Bobby Compretta face no opposition.

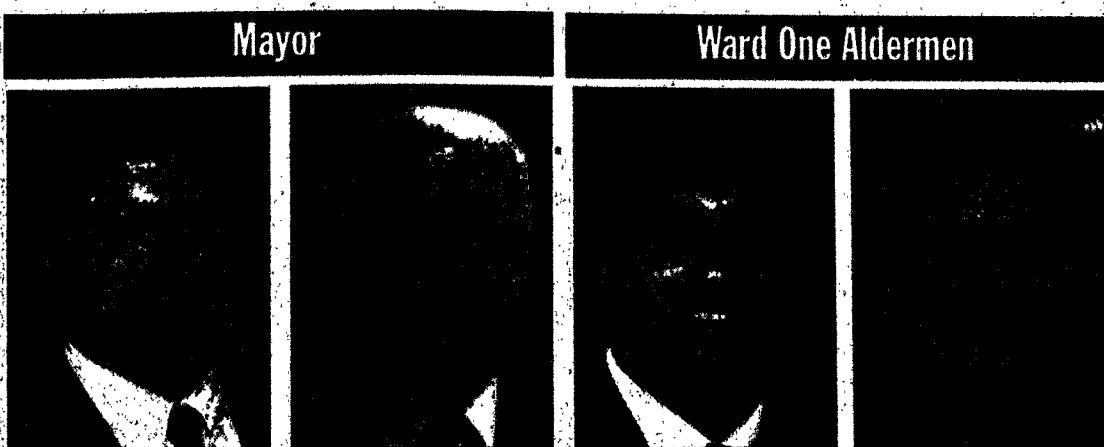

Taylor is a retired programmer for the U.S. Naval Oceanographic office. He is married with three children.

Compretta, a realtor with Coldwell banker, has served as Ward 4 councilman for the past four years. He is married with four children.

Independent candidate Doug Seal from Ward one will run against Chris Vial. Seal served in the U.S. Navy, and is currently employed as a safety specialist at GE Plastics.

Vial, a Republican, is a former National Guardsman. He holds a BA in political science from The University of Mississippi, and has resided in Hancock County for the past 30

They have five children, and nine grandchildren - all scattered throughout the eastern half of the Country. ## Bid submitted to host U.S. Olympic sailing trials on Mississippi Gulf Coast

THE SEA COAST ECHO Gulf Coast Olympic Sailing (GCOS) announced today that they have submitted a bid to the Olympic Sailing Committee (OSC) of the US Sailing Association (the National Governing body of the sport) to host the US Olympic Sailing Trials at five sites along the Gulf Coast. GCOS is an association of yacht clubs from Louisiana to Florida. The Olympic Trials would be held during an eleven day regatta to be held in the fall of 2007. The winner in each class or discipline would advance to the Olympic Games in Beijing, China in August of 2008.

Host sites would be Southern Yacht Club on Lake Pontchartrain in New Orleans, LA, Pass Christian Yacht Club in Pass Christian, MS, Gulfport Yacht Club in Gulfport, MS, Pensacola Yacht Club in Pensacola Florida and St. Petersburg Yacht Club in St. Petersburg, FL.

Associate clubs lending support to the host clubs include New Orleans Yacht Club, Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and Biloxi Yacht Club. Additional clubs are being recruited.

Olympic Sailing is comprised of 14 disciplines, some open to men and women, while others are restricted by gender. The events and the proposed venues are: Laser (Open Single-handed Dinghy), Laser Radial (Women's Single-handed Dinghy), Finn (Men's Single-handed Dinghy) and Men's and Women's 470 (Double-handed Dinghy) will sail on Lake Pontchartrain from Southern YC; Men's and Women's Sailboards will sail on the Mississippi Sound from Pass Christian YC; Star (Men's Double-handed Keelboat) and Yngling (Women's Three-person Keelboat) will sail on the Mississippi Sound from Gulfport YC; Tornado (Open Double-handed Catamaran) and 49er (Open Double-handed Skiff) will sail on Pensacola Bay from Pensacola YC. These classes will sail their trials simultaneously with a closing ceremony to be held in New Orleans. Additionally the three Paralympic Classes - 2.4m (single-handed), Sonar (Three person) and a new two person class (TBD) will sail on Tampa Bay from the St. Petersburg Yacht Club.

"The Gulf Coast has fostered great sailors over the last 150 years, the latest being Johnny Lovell (New Orleans) and Charlie Ogletree (Houston), silver medal winners in the Tornado Class in the Athens Games. We have run prestigious events locally including Regional, National and World Championships, so we know we can run a great regatta. Add our special blend of southern hospitality and we think we have submitted a winning bid" said Guy Brierre, Chairman of GCOS. "Members of our executive committee have competed on a world level and have sailed in over 18 Olympic Trials. Hosting the trials gives local competitors a leg up in preparing for the trials because all the training is in their back yard."

"Our bid is unique for a quadrennium when the Olympics aren't held in the United States (where the trials would be held at the Olympic Venue). In 2004, the Olympic Trials were held at seven different venues, each organized separately. Our event will operate from five locations under one organizing authority. This makes it easier for the OSC and offers sponsors a more concise package."

Jay Cicero, President of the Greater New Orleans Sports Foundation, who assisted with guidance in the bid process, agrees that a unified Local Organizing Committee strengthens the bid process. "While our organization has a rich history of hosting Olympic Trial events, as well as world class events like Super Bowls and Final Fours, everybody involved in this bid brings a variety of strengths to the table."

Members of the Olympic Sailing Committee will visit the prospective sites during the summer and make their decision in October. The winning bid will be announced during the US Sailing annual meeting to be held in Newport, RI on October 19, 2005.

For more information on the GCOS bid, including sponsorship and volunteering opportunities, contact Guy Brierre at 504-533-5384 or gbrierre@hibernia.com.

Pass Christian Middle 7th Graders Travel Back in Time to WW II

Pass Christian Middle School 7th grade honor roll students completed a unit on World War II by visiting the National D-Day Museum in New Orleans. Prior to the trip, students read novels, completed an art activity, and researched events that occurred overseas and at home in the U.S. during the war. Mrs. Cynthia Newman believed the museum tour, guided by war veterans, would be a valuable gift to her students. A WWII veteran guiding one of the tours expressed the importance of educating this generation about these events because by doing this "we honor those who sacrificed for our country." It is also important that these students become vested in these events so they will continue to pass this part of our heritage on to future generations since it will soon be totally their responsibility. Students who visited the museum: Zachary Dominguez, Camden Graham, Larry Williams, Joy Yates, Daphne Carroll, Paige Jones, Shenice Davis, Quinton Pannell, Rebecca Farrar, Matthew Garriga, Jamika Polk, Morgan Bradley, Darlane Cameron, Breezy Youngett, Amber Sykes, Ashley Roe, Ian Rosensteln, Nhl Le, Kenny Dedeaux, Nicolas Stephens, Francis Tran, Lauren Cruz, Amber McArthur, Kit Hand, Audie Pemiclaro, Kaitlyn DeWitt, Brooke McDonald, Dimitri Augustus, Shelby Williams, Cory McGee, Tram Nguyen, Chaz Alinsworth, Maria Nguyen, Lillian Nguyen, Kristie Mate, Korine Koszarek, Courtney Beech, Clair Davies, Danny Spierling, Allison Parker, Sarah Melancon. recommendations so the board could vote on them individually.

Superintendent David Kopf said that probably would be the case.

"I'm confident it will be rectified using the this process."

Several members of the audience were not happy at all with the current state mate. Tarryl Ladner, whose 10th grade son plays basketball for Michael Ladner, said that Packer Ladner and Rose Acker's vote was a slap in the face to the administration.

"These board members have told Hancock County that their administrators cannot do their job. They're messing with a man's career and his job, and they can't even wait until there is a full board."

A petition signed by 44 current and former members of the basketball team was presented to the board. The petition referred to Michael Ladner as a "mentor" and "leader," and strongly urged the board to renew his contract.

Miss Lohman chosen state finalist for 'Miss Gulf Coast'

Miss Heather Ashley Lohman, 19, daughter of Tamara and James Lohman, Jr. of Waveland has been chosen as a state finalist in the Miss Gulf Coast American Coed Pageant. The pageant will be held at the Sheraton Birmingham in Birmingham, Alabama August 5-7, 2005. The competition will include young ladies from Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, and the Florida Panhandle.

Miss Lohman just completed her freshman year at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College-Perkinston Campus. She is majoring in Elementary Education and will compete in the following areas at this year's pageant: personal introduction, personal interview, evening gown, academic achievements, talent, speech, sportswear modeling, and photogenic competition.

Miss Lohman was also a state finalist representing the City of Waveland in the Miss Mississippi American Junior Teen Pageant, which was held at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Jackson, Mississippi in 2001. She received the 2nd place award for Academic Achievements at that competition.

State winners will be selected to represent their states at the National Pageant at Walt Disney World in Florida. According to pageant officials, since 1983, Miss American Coed Pageants has awarded more than $11 million in scholarships and prizes toward the recognition of promising young ladies in America. The cash scholarships help to cover the costs of higher education. One of the main purposes of this pageant is to encourage the young women of today to become "Tomorrow's Leaders."

Shuberts celebrate 50th anniversary

The couple has four children: Bobby, Michael and wife Alreen, Randy and wife Becky, Scottie, and 11 grandchildren.

Safe summer outdoor cooking

Summertime is always a great time to get outdoors and enjoy cook-outs with friends or family. But, all too often the simple pleasure of "throwing a few burgers on the grill" can have tragic consequences.

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department would like to remind you about the dangers of outdoor cooking. Grills - propane or charcoal - are responsible for about 1,000 home fires each year.

Grills fueled by gas are responsible for about 600 of these fires; charcoal grills account for the remaining 400.

Half of all fires begin on an exterior balcony or unenclosed porch.

Thousands of people are severely burned from the improper or careless use of fuel when trying to light charcoal.

Children and pets are injured and cause others injury - from running and playing around hot grills; boiling water; and other outdoor cooking items.

To help keep your cook-out safe and enjoyable, start with these simple rules and contact your local fire department for more safety information or assistance: -Always check gas fueled grills for leaks, clogged lines. Have a professional check your grill if you don't know how to properly check for safety hazards.

Never have children or pets near the area where you are grilling or cooking. Kids and pets should be no closer than 5 feet from any cooking areas. Block the area off if needed.

Don't drink alcohol or use drugs when handling combustible or flammable liquids or when cooking indoors or out! One simple mistake can cause a lifetime of pain and regret.

Keep grills or any cooking equipment several feet away from buildings, roofs, overhangs, and other materials that can catch on fire.

Never use any type of charcoal or gas fueled grill indoors or in an enclosed area!

Grills create toxic and deadly carbon monoxide and must have plenty of ventilation!

AND...If an accident does happen, call 911 immediately - don't hesitate!

MEMA releases updated evacuation information for 2005 hurricane season

Due to traffic congestion during the evacuations for Hurricane Ivan in September 2004, the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, along with other state and local government agencies, have taken steps to improve the evacuation process in South Mississippi.

There are three changes designed to help evacuation traffic flow along U.S. 49 that were not in place during Hurricane Ivan's evacuation, said MEMA Director Robert Latham.

The three main differences this year that will help eliminate traffic along U.S. 49 are:

Law enforcement will be able to manually control traffic signals along U.S. 49.

Only evacuation traffic will be allowed to travel on U.S. 49 north through the city of Hattiesburg.

MDOT and MEMA will be promoting alternate traffic routes for Gulf Coast residents to take that will avoid U.S. 49.

Governor Haley Barbour appointed a commission headed by Mississippi Department of Public Safety Commissioner George Phillips to study the response to Hurricane Ivan and try to make improvements, Latham said.

"There were several issues we knew had to be dealt with," he said. "We realized the traffic signals along U.S. 49 were causing the greatest delays in Gulfport, Hattiesburg and south of Jackson and that had to be addressed before this season."

To keep evacuation traffic from backing up, the Mississippi Department of Transportation and cities along U.S. 49 installed stop-time switches on 29 of the main traffic signals from Gulfport to Jackson. MDOT officials said the switches will allow local and state law enforcement officers to manually control the signals and keep evacuees moving north.

MEMA and MDOT have also worked with Forrest County Emergency Management and Hattiesburg Police Department to help reduce the traffic congestion in the city. The police department has written a plan that will keep evacuation traffic moving north and will not allow non-evacuation traffic to use the north bound lanes of the highway during an evacuation.

During the month of June, MEMA and MDOT will also promote a list of alternative evacuation routes from the Gulf Coast to help reduce traffic along U.S. 49. Although traffic counts were significantly higher along the main evacuation routes, traffic counts were lower on alternate routes. The alternate evacuation routes will suggest residents use such highways as Miss. 15, 43, 53 and 57. These roads will allow evacuees to reach destinations like Meridian and Vicksburg to get to the Jackson area instead of using U.S. 49.

"We greatly appreciate the contributions made by Phil Dur to Northrop Grumman since he joined the company in 1999," Sugar added. "As president of Ship Systems, Phil successfully integrated our shipbuilding assets in Mississippi and Louisiana, enhancing their efficiency and competitive position. On behalf of the entire senior management team, we look forward to his continued support through the end of the year and I wish him well in his pending retirement."

Teel, 57, joined Northrop Grumman in 2000. He previously served as Integrated Systems sector vice president of materiel, and before that assignment, he was sector vice president of program operations.

Prior to joining Northrop Grumman, Teel was vice president of Navy and maritime programs for Raytheon's Aircraft Integration Systems. From 1987 to 1993, he served Raytheon as program manager, program director, and integrated technical and management team leader for various large defense systems.

Teel began his career as an employee of the Naval Air Systems Command, where he held positions in engineering and program management.

Teel earned a bachelor of science degree in aerospace engineering from the Georgia Institute of Technology, and a master of science degree in engineering management from George Washington University. Northrop Grumman

DMR Enhances Oyster Reef

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) and employees with the Pontchartrain Materials Company of Louisiana deploy approximately 7,600 cubic yards of oyster material (oyster shells, limestone, crushed concrete) on a site near the Telegraph reef area south of Pass Christian June 1-3. Funding for this project was provided by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration through an award of over $1.5 million from the National Marine Fisheries Service in support of Mississippi's Hurricane Ivan Shellfish Restoration and Enhancement Project. A portion of this award will be spent this spring and the remainder of the funds will be spent over the next two years. The grant awarded to Mississippi is a share of the $9 million appropriated by Congress to assist the states of Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana in recovering from the damage to oyster reefs caused by Hurricane Ivan.

Pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf 37 years, dies

TEN YEARS AGO

May 18, 1995 - Stirred by complaints over a noisy beachfront party Saturday night, Bay St. Louis City Council made moves anew Tuesday to beef up its anti-noise weaponry. Council asked its attorney to draft provisions to outlaw outdoor revelry past midnight. And they agreed to seek proposals from an expert on noise levels possibly leading to a re-write of the municipal code's provisions. Outdoor live entertainment sponsored Saturday night at a downtown business prompted the furor this week at council meetings on Monday and Tuesday nights.

Before a pompom would be raised in fire, Bay St. Louis Waveland Superintendent Paul Tisdale doused a potential volatile situation involving Bay High School cheerleaders. The flap centered around the selection of cheerleaders for the 1995-96 school year. According to Tisdale the school followed a procedure from a proposed hand book for the new school year, which has not as yet been officially adopted by the board of trustees. Tisdale proposed a solution equitable to all. He said the 12 cheerleader already selected should not be penalized and should not be forced to tryout again. Tuesday suggested tryouts for the three remaining positions on the 15-member squad, with the stipulation that only those who tried out previously be eligible to tryout again.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

May 16, 1985 - Victor J. Frankiewicz, Jr., was the decisive winner in Tuesday's Democratic Primary, upsetting incumbent J. Larry Bennett and challenger Kelvin Schultz in Bay St. Louis' mayoral race. Another strong win in the primary was gained by Democratic Lisa Coward for city council, Ward 1. Coward, who defeated incumbent Gary Griffin and Charles Heitcamp, took the primary with 64 percent of the vote.

A limited amount of booths space is still available for the sixth annual Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Beachfront Festival slated for Saturday, June 2. "The arts and crafts portion of the Beachfront Festival gets bigger and bigger each year," Pat Murphy, Jr., festival chairman reports.

Two Diamondhead clerks were kidnapped and one raped by two men Tuesday night following an armed robbery of the motel. The Hancock County

New Orleans playwright crafts 'dark, dark' comedy for Bay's Little Theatre

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

When New Orleans playwright Timothy Gray's "trains" opens at the Bay St. Louis Little Theater June 10, the audience will be the first to view the original production. The play, one that Gray calls a dark, dark comedy with music, will premiere June 10-12 and June 17-19, with nightly performances at 8 p.m. and a Sunday matinee at 2 p.m. Gray founded the Odd Man Out Theater Company two years ago after losing his 70-hour-a-week job running a hotel in New Orleans. He came to work one day to find the hotel had been sold and that afternoon he went home-out of a job. He considers the loss of that job one of the best things that ever happened to him.

"Now I can spend 70 hours a week with the company, doing something I love," Gray said.

His dream now to build a core group of actors and be able to say "hey everybody, let's put on a show. The company has a fairly regular membership of about 20 people including actors, technical people and others. Gray is the sole writer. Two other members, Chris Cuddihee and Rebecca Meyers form the backbone of the company.

"Chris helps me herd everybody together and takes much of the responsibility so that I can focus on writing. And Rebecca handles the website and press releases, and helps with directing," Gray says.

Though Gray has written monologues, he prefers a large cast, he says, where each actor plays several parts. In "trains" each of the 18 actors plays at least two parts to form the 70 characters. A rehearsal held at the Little Theater, though taken seriously, gave way to an air of informality-much like the playwright himself exudes.

"I like to have the attitude that it is all going to work out, and it usually does," said Gray. "And sooner or later you run out of time and the show must go on."

With six successful productions under his belt, Gray likely knows what works and what doesn't. He and the company are looking forward to their debut "out of town."

"New Orleans is a great nurturing place for us, but it is good to leave the city and find out what other people think of us," he said.

Set in a metro train station, "trains" takes a myopic view of a day in the life of both passengers and loiters who pass through the station over the course of the

Ciao Maria e Paola

I received an e-mail the other day from a friend and it brought back a flood of memories. The first part of this column is to set the stage. The second part is the e-mail. Please allow me to share my love for these dear friends with you.

At one time my work required extensive foreign traveling. I tried to take Stella with me on at least one trip a year to ease the pressure my absence made to our marriage. On one trip to La Spezia, Italy, she couldn't come with me and I had to go alone. During several days, I went with some close friends, Paola and Maria, to Veppo, their weekend place in the hills 40 miles east of the city.

I had been there before and during that visit I had had Stella with me. So, I looked forward to my weekend. When we arrived, I found that it was as I remembered it, a wonderful retreat, removed from all the things that I was normally accustomed to in my everyday life.

My room that night was the upper floor of a small stone house a thousand years old. I slept on a straw mattress and was warmed by a fire in the small raised fireplace by the bed. I fell asleep watching the firelight flicker on the stone walls of my small room. Later that night, I awoke and listened to the night noises around me. Outside my window, I could hear a waterfall and a bird that sang to me and the rest of the world through most of the night.

The next morning we had an Italian breakfast of coffee, toast and a piece of fruit and went to the rear of the house to look at my friend Mario's small vineyard. He proudly showed me the rows of grapes and assigned me that if I came back the next fall we would make wine using the old wine press under the village church (I actually did go back and we did make wine that year. It was very good).

At midday we went to the local restaurant/bar in Veppo and sat in a room with the locals from the tiny village for our Sunday meal. The room held only a few large tables; no real menu. People sat wherever there was room and were served by large plates of food that continuously came out of the kitchen.

Through the windows, I could see the valley and hills and a small village on the hill to our right. I knew it was going to be a long meal and relaxed in the ambiance of good food and wonderful people.

Paola, Mario's wife was upset that Stella had not been able to make the trip with me. She said so to me and also to the people that joined us at our table, and to the restaurant proprietor at the bar as well as the cook in the kitchen (who had learned her English in Scotland and spoke it with a rich Scottish burr).

I sat explaining why Stella wasn't with me for perhaps the tenth time when I heard Paola's voice over the noise in the room, "Stella! How are you?" I looked up to see Paola on the phone in the corner of the room. She had called Stella in Mississippi!

I quickly got up to go talk to her myself, when someone stopped me to say hello. When I looked again, the proprietor had started to talk to Stella explaining something about the menu, then the cook came on to clarify what he had said, then someone I knew couldn't speak English, started singing her an Italian song.

It seemed everyone in the room got to talk to Stella before I did that day.

Later when I returned home, Stella told me about having the wonderful experience of going to bed in Mississippi and waking to the phone ringing and finding herself for a little over a half hour in a small village in the northern hills of Italy.

My recent e-mail from Italy

Dear Paul and Stella, It would be a good idea if you could come here, in Veppo. Come and see!

Nice your story with your cat...but listen to one of our story with our very loved cat Gigi. Our cat Gigi lives with us in La Spezia and comes with us to Veppo when we stay more than one night.

So we were in Veppo, summertime, and in the evening we had tickets for the opera in a nice small city 40 km far. The morning after very early Mario's niece with husband and two small children were arriving.

Well, we went to the opera, we had a very good time; then at about one o'clock we came back home. And Gigi wasn't there! Oh My! We went around in the night calling for him. Nothing.

While going sadly to bed we heard cats having a terrible quarrel and we went out again looking for Gigi and calling him but with no success. After two, very tired and worried, we went to bed.

At about four we were waken up by cats quarrel and we knew it was our loved cat with his terrible enemy: the red cat! We got up and, exactly as we were, I mean nearly naked, we jumped out to help him. But he disappeared again chased by or chasing his enemy in the wood.

It was about five and we went to bed.

At six o'clock the young family arrived and the night was over. We settled them in the house; they went to bed and we came back home always thinking to our dear cat in a terrible trouble.

We entered the room and there he was, already sleeping in the middle of our bed.

By the way, in the meantime, we received also the CD with your other cat story: I appreciated it very much, and I thank you for it.

Unfortunately I haven't understood nearly nothing, but I will try and try again. I really hope to see you soon.

Kisses
Paola

Time

Sheriff's Department has joined with 10 other law enforcement agencies in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida of the two males who are believed to have been involved in at least four other similar incidents.

FORTY YEARS AGO
May 5, 1965 - Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company posted notices Monday on Waveland's depot that it will ask the Public Service Commission for authority to abandon and close this agency. Instead it wants to use the 100-year-old depot as a non-agency, or pre-pay station. Meanwhile, J.H. Harrod, investigator for W.R. (Bucky) Moore, southern district commissioner, conferred Wednesday with Waveland and county officials as well as Willie Bordage, agent at the depot, on ways to preserve the local operation. The agency handles all freight for Waveland, Clermont Harbor and Ansley. Incoming carloads averaged five a month, Bordages reported. Outgoing shipments used to average 60 a month from Whitfield Timber Company's Lakeshore Operation but recently have declined to about 25, he said.

- For Hancock General Hospital it seems to be feast or famine. Early last year not a bidder showed up on the first try to sell bonds for the local share of the 26-bed addition. Last Friday, 39 bids, the most ever received on a Hancock County job, were submitted for equipment in the new wing, and expanded main plant.

FIFTY YEARS AGO
May 19, 1955 - As the Most Rev. R.O. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez, recited the funeral prayers, Monsignor A.J. Canon Gmelch, pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church for 37 years, was laid to rest in the Italian Society Tomb (in St. Mary's Cemetery.) The 77 year old Dean of the Diocese of Natchez, who died at Hotel Dieu Saturday after a long illness, has served as pastor of the Bay St. Louis parish since 1918, when he came here from the Sacred Heart Church in Canton. Monsignor Gmelch was born in Rohrlack, Germany on Nov. 20, 1877. He made his ecclesiastical studies at Cullman, Alabama and in New Orleans. He was ordained into the priesthood at St. Stephen Church in New Orleans on June 14, 1901.

- Conductor F.J. Holder of the L&N Railroad was fined $25 by Mayor John Scaffide for blocking five crossings for a period of 25 minutes, April 21st. The conductor pleaded guilty to the charge. The train blocked the crossings at Sycamore, Washington, Citizen, Ballentine and St. Charles Streets.

- Lt. Walter J. Turcotte, Jr. of Waveland, was recently promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant at the Marine Air Base at El Toro, California. He is a graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, Perkinson Junior College and Mississippi State College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turcotte, Sr., and is married to the former Miss Mary Carol Clements of Hattiesburg.

HANCOCK COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT FOCUSED-MONITORING SITE VISIT SUMMARY REPORT

The Mississippi Department of Education, Office of Special Education's monitoring team would like to share some of the positive aspects noted during the focused-monitoring visit.

- The district recognizes the Teacher Support Team (TST) is a regular education initiative; therefore, only regular education personnel are assigned to serve on the TST.
- The superintendent acknowledged the monitoring team's purpose and demonstrated an understanding/acceptance that the focused-monitoring process is designed to help the Hancock School District improve in the indicated areas of Disproportionality in the Over-identification of Specific Learning Disability (SLD).
- Gulfview Elementary School's TST/Student Intervention Team (SIT) appears to be well-formed and functioning successfully according to guidelines and could serve as a training model for other schools in the district.
- District and building level personnel stayed after hours to assist the monitoring team.
- The school climate was conducive to learning.
- The district has several school and district wide initiatives designed to prevent student failure, e.g., REACH and the Compass Reading Program. There is also an after school tutoring program at the high school for students struggling in math and English.
- Parents of students at the high school level are provided with a monthly newsletter and calendar, to provide information and encourage parent participation.

The Hancock County School District was selected for focused-monitoring in the key area of Disproportionality in the Over-identification of Specific Learning Disability (SLD). The MDE/OSE conducted an on-site visit January 31-February 3, 2005.

Using the Mississippi Policies/Procedures and/or Federal Regulations as sources of authority, the assigned monitoring team did not find evidence to support the following:

- The pre-referral (intervention process) ensures test data are examined appropriately and without biases.
- When developing interventions for Black students, cultural differences or barriers are considered.
- Data collected during the reevaluation process supported decisions made by the IEP committee for continuation of eligibility for SLD.

As a result of the focused-monitoring visit, the Hancock County School District is required to develop a corrective action plan to address the systemic findings within the indicator of Disproportionality in the Over-identification of Specific Learning Disability (SLD). The corrective action plan must demonstrate positive change for children with disabilities in the Hancock County School District.

Local Restaurateur Thrives Despite Onslaught of National Chains.

Sicily's Ultimate Italian Buffet owner, Allan D. Massie says sales are booming due to his restaurant living up to its slogan, "More Variety, Better Taste."

To know Sicily's is to love Sicily's, one visit to Sicily's Ultimate Italian Buffet and you'll know why. Family oriented Sicily's offers fine Italian food at reasonable prices. The success of Sicily's is due to their commitment of providing guest the highest quality ingredients, great service, selection and value.

Sicily's Ultimate Italian Buffet has the largest salad bar in Bay St. Louis. The produce is hand selected and brought in fresh every day. Sicily's pizza dough is made fresh daily and is the building block for their award winning gourmet pizzas. Only the finest ingredients are selected for Sicily's pizza, such as the best mozzarella cheese, the #1 Italian sausage in the nation, and the best quality pepperoni. Sicily's is the only restaurant, that I know of, that will take a request for a pizza that is not on the buffet, and bring it to your table at no extra charge.

Salad and pizza are not the only items available on the buffet, there is surely something to please every member of your family. You can choose from pasta dishes, lasagna, heart healthy baked chicken, various vegetables, rice dishes, soups and gumbo. (The gumbo is truly delicious and my personal favorite). Everything is seasoned by hand. Nothing is purchased already prepared. Even the salad dressings are hand made.

Save room for the gourmet coffee and dessert bar. Indulge in phenomenal pizza desserts, such as Mom's apple pie, blueberry, cherry or rocky road, or try one or more of the many other desserts available such as the cheesecake - a perfect ending to a delicious meal.

On Tuesdays, kids 10 & under eat absolutely free with a paying adult. Wednesdays are senior citizen day. Remember everything on Sicily's buffet is available for carryout or order from the a la carte menu.

For more information or to inquire about parties or seating for large groups call 463-9909 or visit Sicily's at 620 Blue Meadow Rd. in Bay St. Louis.

Know Your Spiritual Self

Those who know you,
Lord, will trust you;
Good News Bible
Psalm 9:10

When the great works of civilization are readily available to anyone with a computer and an Internet connection, we surely are living in amazing times. We can search the libraries of the world with the simple click of a mouse-button. Meanwhile, we send probes to outer space and to the bottom of the ocean, and our world seemingly gets smaller with each passing day. And although we know more and more about the physical world, our knowledge of our spiritual selves seems to grow thin and meager. Because we live in the midst of an information explosion, we are often hard-pressed for enough time to keep abreast of the new developments and we may even neglect our inner lives. With the world's current output of new books at over 5000 titles per day, it is impossible for anyone to stay abreast of every new development in every field, and anyone who tried would truly risk losing their soul. The philosopher, Schopenhauer, once remarked that the most important things cannot be expressed in words, but still there is no end to the writing of books. Socrates, who never wrote a book, warned that the unexamined life is not worth living. Jesus, who also never wrote a book, had something similar in mind: He told His disciples that the Kingdom of God is within you (Luke 17:21). If we truly know ourselves, then we will know that we are the sons and daughters of the Living Father who created us and loves us. Knowing God is knowing ourselves.

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder

The Scream disappeared from its museum berth on August 22, 2004, snatched away by bandits who stormed a Norwegian museum and made off with their prize. With hearts palpitating nervously, they searched for a fence able to lure a megabuck-loaded buyer.

For good measure, the thieves also stole Madonna, thereby absconding with Edward Munch's duet of The Scream, painted in 1893, and Madonna, painted in 1894, as part of the artist's painting miniseries, "Frieze of Life." Incredibly, these works of art were but two of 150,000 stolen masterpieces that specialists say may never be found.

A very curious aspect of these exorbitant heists is that they frequently occur in full sight of the museum security guards who mill about helplessly while the bandits go about their shameless business. The problem? The security guards have no weapons.

Bryan Roberts, a gallery owner in Columbus, Ohio, who carefully tracks missing art pieces, observes that there are some rich art fanatics who are content to buy stolen masterpieces and keep them secretly in their possession. What satisfaction is there in that? God knows. In some cases, the art is discovered at their death, if indeed then.

So, what's the big attraction for stealing such pieces of art? For starters, collectors and museum authorities estimate that The Scream would be worth some $70 million if it were auctioned legitimately. Even if the monetary worth of an individual art piece is no more than $1 million or so, imagine the total worth of 150,000 pieces.

"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder" was perhaps never demonstrated more clearly than in the saga of The Scream. Whatever beauty there is in The Scream is so alien to my tastes that I cannot imagine anyone asking anything for it, let alone $70 million. Truth to tell, someone would have to pay me to have a print of that painting hang on my wall.

Far beyond not having any appeal of beauty for me, I find The Scream and numerous similar works to be downright repulsive. Of course, I fully concede the truth of the ancient dictum: "One must not argue over tastes." Apart from being futile and foolish to argue over tastes, it is a violation of everyone's innate rights to personal perceptions.

Well, it goes a lot deeper than that. My appraisal of a picture of The Scream is that many high school students and even some of the elementary could do a painting or sketch as attractive or more so than the ghostly appearance rendered by Edward Munch.

Since I have some native ability to sketch scenes and people, I attempted to calculate how much time and energy might be expended in doing an art piece like The Scream. My personal take was that I could do something comparable - if not better - within hours!

Am I just a fool in over my head on this issue, or is there something very elusive here which evades the understanding and sensibilities of most people? Somehow, I cannot escape the gnawing feeling that connoisseurs of abstract art, perhaps unbeknown to themselves, seek constantly and take a huge delight in the arcane and the exotic.

To hear some people describe an abstract art piece in detail, one's mind is brought back to the words of Vernon Dobard, a prolific local artist whose strength is realism:

"For me, abstract art is about 35 percent inspired painting or molding and about 65 percent talking. But realistic art speaks for itself. It needs no explanation."

As I watched The Learning Channel on TV a few nights ago, it was déjà vu all over again, as Yogi Berra would say. A modern zoo showed its lavish accommodations for the animals there. One female orangutan is given her daily supply of an artist's canvas, oils and spatula with which she does "artistic" works commanding up to $1000.

The burning question arises as to whether the brain power used in works like the orangutan's is in any way akin to that employed in The Scream and similar pieces. It may be that the $1000 price tag placed on the orangutan's piece is a thoroughly damning comment on the value some people place on certain works of abstract art.

So, what is the basis for the value of an orangutan's work of art? It must be the nature of being an orangutan, for, if someone like a typical you or me would spread the same paints on an artist's canvas, we would be laughed to scorn if we asked for a hefty $1000.

Trying to be open-minded, I had half hoped that over time my view of abstract art would have mellowed. But, although it has been many decades since my first encounter with such abstract pieces, my tastes have not changed, and perhaps are frozen in place. Realistic art is the only form which gives me inspiration and pleasure.

On the other hand, we are blessed here in Faubourg Tremé with St. Augustine Church, a timeless treasure built in 1842 at the behest of free people of color. The church contains realistic art in the Stations of the Cross painted by a Parisian in 1870, and the stained glass windows fashioned in 1924 by the Frei family, Germans now living in St. Louis.

Yet, St. Augustine also has a semi-abstract work done by Marta Whistler and humbly donated to us several years ago. It is a depiction of the crucifixion and is mounted directly below the venerable painting of the seventh Station of the Cross. Our sole concern has been addressed by the fact that our congregation appreciates Marta's work.

Which is likely the best answer to the whole question about abstract vis-à-vis realistic art. As the gospel song says, "Plenty good room, plenty good room, plenty good room in my Father's kingdom." Yes, in God's world there is room for everything which proves to be an inspiration, an uplifting and a pleasure for any of God's children.

Far be it from any of us to spurn or repress an art form or any human creation to which one or other of our fellow humans relates and enjoys. Au contraire, each of us should be about the business of enjoying and promoting the unique thought, individual ambitions and self-expression of all our sisters and brothers, no matter how they differ from us.

By definition, art is the way we personally imitate and express nature through our own culture, idiom and personality. Each of us does that a tad differently and uniquely, but the end result is that we are thus enabled to be all we can be for God and one another.

Reflections on Life

Scripture Says

By Ed Young

Don't believe the lies in 'The Da Vinci Code'

There is a book on the present day market called The Da Vinci Code. This book has made strong accusations about the life of Jesus Christ. These accusations are not founded in accordance with the Holy Scripture. Also the book has many misleading statements and false unfounded claims.

Yet, some still believe it. The purpose of the Da Vinci Code is to discredit the ministry of Jesus of Nazareth. Unfortunately some will be taken in.

This attempt to discredit the Bible and the true meaning of God's Son is nothing new.

Religious cults, some major religions and people with a cause, such as the author of the Da Vinci Code.

The strongest accusation made in The Da Vinci Code is Jesus was married to Mary Magdalene. Which of course is unfounded; and not one of the church's founding fathers even indicated that. In the Bible, Jesus was being questioned about marriage in Heaven. The Jews wanted to know if seven brothers were married to the same women and they died each time one had married her, after the others' death, who would be her husband in Heaven?

Jesus said, "You are mistaken, not knowing the scripture, nor the power of God."

"For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels of God in Heaven." Matt 22, 29-30.

So it's obvious this author does not have the mind of a Christian. So dear reader don't waste your time and money on such false accusations. Da Vinci Code is ungodly and written in the hallways of hell.

If you want to know the real truth of Jesus Christ read the Gospel of St. John.

That's the truth!

The "Word" for the Week

Seeing is believing, right? Missouri is the Show Me' state. In other words, if I don't see something with my own eyes, I won't believe it. By and large, we think that's a pretty good philosophy.

If you want me to believe trees and other plants take on carbon dioxide and give off oxygen, prove it. Just don't point to a science book. How are you going to prove such a thing? You have to do a controlled experiment. You place plants in an airtight room. You measure the amount of oxygen and carbon dioxide in that room. And you allow the plants a specific amount of time to be there. Then you take the measurements again. You discover there is now more oxygen in the room and less carbon dioxide. So you conclude the plants use carbon dioxide and give off oxygen. It's perfectly simple. Or is it? Can you see the plants making oxygen? Well, no. But all the evidence points in that direction. Ah! Now we get to the bottom line.

We don't see the actual process. But we do see the outcome, the evidence. We draw our conclusions from the evidence.

The same thing takes place in courtrooms across America every day. So it is common practice for us to examine evidence and make proper judgments. This being the case, if I were to show you the evidence, would you believe in God? Would you believe the Bible is the written Word of God? Would you believe that Jesus Christ rose from the dead and is the Son of God? Or contrary to your standard operating procedure, would you blow off the evidence simply because you don't like the conclusions? That would be bad policy in the courtroom. It would be bad policy the laboratory. It's also bad policy when it comes to God, the Bible and Jesus Christ.

OLA's Sydney Chevis to attend HOBY conference

Sydney Chevis, sophomore at Our Lady Academy, was selected to attend the 2004-2005 Mississippi HOBY Youth Leadership Seminar June 3-5 at Millsaps College in Jackson. The Hugh O'Brian Foundation is dedicated to the recognition and development of leadership potential in young people of high school age, in particular sophomores. Every school may nominate a 10th grade student to attend the expense-paid weekend workshop in their state.

HOBY's vision is "To motivate and empower individuals to make a positive difference within our global society through understanding and action based on effective and compassionate leadership."

Daughter of Karen Chevis and granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Chevis of Bay Saint Louis, Chevis has attended Our Lady Academy since the 7th grade.

Chevis is an OLA ambassador, the editor of the school newspaper "The Crescent Chronicle," the treasurer of Campus Ministry, and a member of the yearbook staff.

An Honor Roll student for four years, Chevis is a member of the Monsignor Martin Maloney chapter of the National Junior Honor Society and was chosen for the Pepsi student of the month from her class each year.

Chevis is involved in her civic community. She is president of the American Legion Junior Auxiliary Post 139. She was also a maid for the Waveland Civic Association Saint Patrick's Day Ball for the past two years. Hugh O'Brian established the Youth Foundation in 1958 after he was motivated by a remark of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, "The most important thing in education is to make young people think for themselves." In an effort to include more students, weekend state seminars were instituted in 1977.

Some objectives of the HOBY Foundation are: Democratic system and Entrepreneurship, Education, Leadership for Service, Media/Communications, and Future of our Society.

HOBY's success is the direct result of its 4,000 national volunteers who plan and execute its programs, Leadership Seminars, Alumni activities and Community Leadership Education Workshops.

From each HOBY State Seminar, one young man and one young woman are selected to represent their state at a week-long International Leadership Seminar held in late summer. HOBY is recognized by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

2005 Annual Drinking Water Quality Report City of Waveland PWS# 0230002 May 2005

We're pleased to present to you this year's Annual Quality Water Report. This report is designed to inform you about the quality water and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water. Our water source is from four wells drawing from the Graham Gerry Formation and Pascagoula Formation Aquifers.

The source water assessment has been completed for our public water system to determine the overall susceptibility of its drinking water supply to identified potential sources of contamination. The general susceptibility rankings assigned to each well of this system are provided immediately below. A report containing detailed information on how the susceptibility determinations were made has been furnished to our public water system and is available for viewing upon request. The wells for the City of Waveland have received a moderate susceptibility ranking to contamination.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Dwight Haskell at 228-467-9248. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. They are held on the first Tuesday and the third Wednesday after the first Tuesday of each month at 6:30 PM at the Annex Building.

The City of Waveland routinely monitors for constituents in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. This table shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 2004. In cases where monitoring wasn't required in 2004, the table reflects the most recent results. As water travels over the land or underground, it can pick up substances or contaminants such as microbes, inorganic and organic chemicals, and radioactive substances. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. It's important to remember that the presence of these constituents does not necessarily pose a health risk.

In this table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Action Level - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - The "Goal" (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

TEST RESULTS

Contaminant	Violation Y/N	Date Collected	Level Detected	Range of Detects or # of Samples Exceeding MCL/ACL	Unit Measurement	MCLG	MCL	Likely Source of Contamination
Inorganic Contaminants
10. Barium	N	2004	.013	.010 - .013	Ppm	2	2	Discharge of drilling wastes; discharge from metal refineries; erosion of natural deposits
13. Chromium	N	2004	2	1 - 2	Ppb	100	100	Discharge from steel and pulp mills; erosion of natural deposits
14. Copper	N	2001*	.211	0	ppm	1.3	AL=1.3	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; erosion of natural deposits; leaching from wood preservatives
17. Lead	N	2001*	3	0	ppb	0	AL=15	Corrosion of household plumbing systems, erosion of natural deposits
Volatile Organic Contaminants
73. TTHM (Total trihalomethanes)	N	2004	13.9	No Range	ppb	0	100	By-product of drinking water disinfection.
HAA5	N	2004	.012	No Range	ppm	0	.050	By-Product of drinking water disinfection.

* Most recent sample. No sample required for 2004.

As you can see by the table, our system had no violations. We're proud that your drinking water meets or exceeds all Federal and State requirements. We have learned through our monitoring and testing that some constituents have been detected however the EPA has determined that your water IS SAFE at these levels.

All sources of drinking water are subject to potential contamination by substances that are naturally occurring or man made. These substances can be microbes, inorganic or organic chemicals and radioactive substances. All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immunocompromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline 1-800-426-4791.

The City of Waveland works around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water sources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life and our children's future.

The Golden Boys Bring Bandstand to Bay Magic

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Fifties heartthrobs Frankie Avalon, Fabian and Bobby Rydell perform their sock-hop hits and some of the most beloved music of the bandstand era in two performances at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis June 24th & 25th at 9 p.m. Tickets start at $19.95 are available at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster outlet.

The Golden Boys were three of the most popular teen idols and the late 50's and early 60's and have met with overwhelming concert success while touring together off and on again since 1985.

Frankie Avalon, 63, began his show biz career by playing the trumpet and wowing the audience at various Philadelphia talent shows. By the age of 12, he was a member of a local dance band which featured another future teen idol on drums — Bobby Rydell. In 1957, the rise of "American Bandstand" inspired Avalon to try a solo singing career. He made waves with the hits, "Venus," "Bobby Sox to Stockings," and "De De Dinah." In the 60's Avalon turned to acting starring in several films with Annette Funicello that were inspired by the nationwide surfing craze — "Beach Party," "Muscle Beach," "Beach Blanket Bingo," and many more. Perhaps his most memorable role came in 1978's "Grease" in which he played a teen angel and sang "Beauty School Dropout."

Frankie Avalon, Fabian and Bobby Rydell perform their sock-hop hits and some of the most beloved music of the bandstand era in two performances at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis June 24th & 25th at 9 p.m.

Another Philadelphia native, Fabian Forte, 61, was discovered sitting on his front steps at the age of 14. By the time he was 18 he had recorded dozens of hit singles including: "Turn Me Loose," "Tiger" and "I'm the Man." In 1959, he made his screen debut and has since had featured roles with John Wayne, James Stewart, Jack Palance, and George Segal. Never a disappointment to his fans, Fabian is still as good looking, charming and hard working as ever.

Bobby Rydell, 62, grew up in the same south Philly neighborhood as Avalon and Fabian. He began his career playing the drums at the age of five and was working night clubs by age seven. As a teenager he played with Frankie Avalon in a local dance band and went solo after seeing Avalon's success. Rydell's hits include:

musical "Bye, Bye, Birdie" opposite Ann Margaret.

Today the trio find the most success in their family lives and through touring together. Baby Boomers still flock to their concerts in droves screaming, "Frankie you're the best!" and "I love you Fabian!" Don't miss your chance to see The Golden Boys live in concert at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on June 24th and 25th! Must be at least 21 to attend.

6 p.m. and HALL
Movie: Mystery Woman: Vision of Murder
Amateur sleuth Samantha Kinsey (Kellie Martin) is hired to take brochure photos for an upscale spa in this new mystery. While she and her friend Cassie (Nina Siemaszko) are enjoying the amenities, another guest is found dead. Samantha dons her detective's hat and uncovers some unsavory activity on the part of the spa's doctor, who's using the patrons as guinea pigs for untested drugs and other products. Clarence Williams III also stars.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS
The 59th Annual Tony Awards
Someone may take a silly walk to the stage at this year's Tonys, as the musical "Monty Python's Spamalot" is the show to beat, with 14 nominations. "Dirty Rotten Scoundrels" and "The Light in the Piazza" have 11 each. Among nonmusicals, "Doubt" is up for eight awards, followed by "The Pillowman," and the revivals of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and "Glen-garry Glen Ross" with six nods apiece. Hugh Jackman hosts.
7 p.m. on ESPN
MLB Baseball
New York Mets fans who paid higher-than-normal ticket prices to see Barry Bonds and the Giants tonight won't get a refund — Bonds is out injured — but compensation in the form of a Mets win would be a suitable substitute. Doing his best Bonds imitation thus far has been Mets left fielder Cliff Floyd, whose power numbers through 32 games ranked among the National League's best, keeping New York in the thick of the East Division race.
8 p.m. on HBO
Entourage
The sitcom about a rising Hollywood star and his posse opens its second season with "The System." As Vince (Adrian Grenier) and his crew return to Los Angeles after shooting an independent film in New York, Eric (Kevin Connolly) finds his new authority as Vince's manager questioned. Drama's (Kevin Dillon) own career remains stalled, and Turtle (Jerry Ferrara) hates his job.
7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
The Simpsons
Architect Frank Gehry voices an animated version of himself in "The Seven-Beer Snitch." He designs a concert hall for Springfield, which proves to be a flop with the locals. Mr. Burns (voice of Harry Shearer) takes over the building and turns it into a prison, where Homer (voice of Dan Castellaneta) ends up after a mix-up with lab-test results and gets in trouble with fellow inmate Fat Tony (voice of Joe Mantegna) for snitching.
7 p.m. and DSC
Greatest American
Matt Lauer hosts this four-part series, which culminates in an online vote to name the "greatest American" from a list created through an earlier Internet poll. With a field that includes scientists, politicians, athletes, entertainers and more, deciding who's greater than whom is like comparing apples and oranges ... and berries and grapes. In Canada's "Greatest" contest, however, politicians and statesmen came out on top
8 p.m. and USA
The 4400
In the second-season premiere of the hit drama, "Wake Up Call," it's been a year since the 4,400 formerly missing people reappeared. Tom (Joel Gretsch) is reinstated at Homeland Security and resumes investigating the 4,400 with his partner, Diana (Jacqueline McKenzie). Lily's (Laura Allen) baby, conceived while she was away, is 6 months old. Collier's (Billy Campbell) book is published.
8:30 p.m. on HBO
The Comeback
Lisa Kudrow ("Friends") stars in this new comedy as Valerie, a former television star trying to land a part on a new series. In order to get the role, however, she must allow cameras to follow her 24/7 for a reality show. She succeeds, but the part turns out to be far removed from the role of her dreams. Damian Young, Malin Akerman and Robert Bagnall also star in the premiere episode, also titled "The Comeback."

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

My Wife and Kids

Ever expect to see Wayne Newton and the Rev. Al Sharpton on the same show? They're guest stars — along with sports legend Michael Jordan — in the two-part story "Fantasy Camp." Michael (Damon Wayans) gets a very special trip as a gift from Jay (Tisha Campbell-Martin) — to the Las Vegas basketball camp run by Jordan. The rest of the family goes along, too.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

All of Us

In "So I Creep," Robert (Duane Martin) interviews "American Idol" winner Fantasia Barrino (guest starring as herself), and his work catches the eye of a producer for "Entertainment Tonight." Now guess who has a job offer from the syndicated show: Elise Neal and LisaRaye, also, star. "America's Next Top Model" alumna Toccara Jones makes a guest appearance.

George Lopez

Budget cuts at school are bad news for Max (Luis Armand Garcia), who will have to go back to regular classes. George (George Lopez) attends a PTA meeting to protest and inadvertently spills some family beans to his sister, Linda (guest star, Eva La Rue). Constance Maria also stars in "George Gets Assistance."

Luis Armand Garcia

7:30 p.m. on 54-UPN

Eve

In "Prom Night," a young man (guest star Sharif Atkins, "ER") asks Shelly (Eve) to the prom. No, it's not his prom; it's his younger sister's, and he's chaperoning. He doesn't seem like her type, but she agrees out of the goodness of her heart to go. To her surprise, she soon finds herself having romantic feelings for him. Yaya, Johnny, and "America's Next Top Model" guest stars.

According to Jim

While dining out with Cheryl (Courtney Thorne-Smith), Jim (Jim Belushi) pretends to be jealous of her and their waiter in an effort to make her feel wanted. It works so well that he advises Dana's (Kimberly Williams-Paisley) date to do the same. Dana's reaction, however, is quite different from Cheryl's: she thinks the guy is a paranoid control freak. Larry Joe Campbell also stars in "The Jealous Husband."

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Fire Me... Please

It's the anti-"Apprentice." In this new reality series, inspired, as so many are, by a British show, two people start new jobs on the same day and try their best to get fired by 3 p.m. Observed by hidden cameras, the contestants pull one outrageous stunt after another in an effort to tick off their bosses and co-workers. The one who is dismissed closest to 3 p.m. takes home a $25,000 prize — not bad for less than a day's work.

8:30 p.m. on 54-UPN

The Bad Girl's Guide

JJ and Holly (Jenny McCarthy, Marcelle Larrice) hold a brainstorming session at work that turns off-color, offending a would-be employee. They wind up at a seminar on sexual harassment led by a handsome guy (guest star Mario Lopez) to whom JJ develops an attraction. Irene (Stephanie Childers) shares some secrets with a reluctant Holly in the new episode "The Guide to Being in the Mood."

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

In "Identity," Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) investigate what looks like a clear-cut case of retribution: a gang member pushed to his death from a roof after committing a sexual assault. But the subsequent death of the young woman (guest star Megan Thompson) whom he attacked shows the detectives that this one won't be so easy after all. Mary Stuart Masterson guest stars.

9 p.m. on BRAV

Queer Eye for the Straight Guy

They made baseball history in October 2004 by winning the World Series for the first time in 86 years. Five members of the Boston Red Sox, however, are striking out when it comes to style. In the season premiere, "Kevin M. and Johnny D.," the Fab Five catch up with Kevin Millar, Johnny Damon, Jason Varitek, Tim Lincecum, and Doug Mientkiewicz at spring training, armed with grooming aids, experts at hairstyling — and hair removal — and more.

Movie: Exit Wounds

Steven Seagal stars in this 2001 drama as a cop in the "Dirty Harry" tradition, a maverick whose successful ends don't always justify his means in the eyes of his superiors. Demoted to duty in one of Detroit's worst neighborhoods, he becomes involved in the investigation of a drug kingpin that leads him to corruption on the force. Jill Hennessy ("Crossing Jordan"), Michael Jai White, Isaiah Washington and DMX also star.

Mom's sleeping with the principal! In "Sleepover," Cate and Principal Gibb (Katey Sagal, Adam Arkin) drift off to dreamland while watching a movie, and the family jumps to conclusions upon catching them together. Jim (James Van Der Beek) takes C.J., Bridget, Kerry and Rory (David Spade, Kaley Cuoco, Amy Davidson, Martin Spanjers) ice fishing. What they don't know is he's about as uninterested in this quality-time opportunity as they are.

In Focus

The prospect of a full scholarship to a prestigious university is enough to draw 10 high-school students - including Melissa - into "The Scholar," an unscribed ABC series premiering Monday, June 6.

Steve Martin and Jon Murray, one of the mentors of "The Real World" and "Road Rules," are among the executive producers of the show that puts the young competitors through education-based challenges. Among the many tasks they face: oral exams administered by Ivy Leaguers.

On the heels of starring in the big-screen comedy "Fever Pitch," Jimmy Fallon reprises the job of host - after filling the role in 2001 - at the 2005 MTV Movie Awards, airing Thursday, June 9.

The event, taped the previous weekend at Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium, introduces two new categories: best frightened performance and best video game based on a movie. Scheduled to present are Katie Holmes (will Tom Cruise be near?), Vin Diesel and Oscar winner Hilary Swank.
